

We believe youth
are a transformative force in society.

When they join with adults and elders
to braid wisdom across generations, they have tremendous power to solve problems and create a more joyful, just, interdependent world.

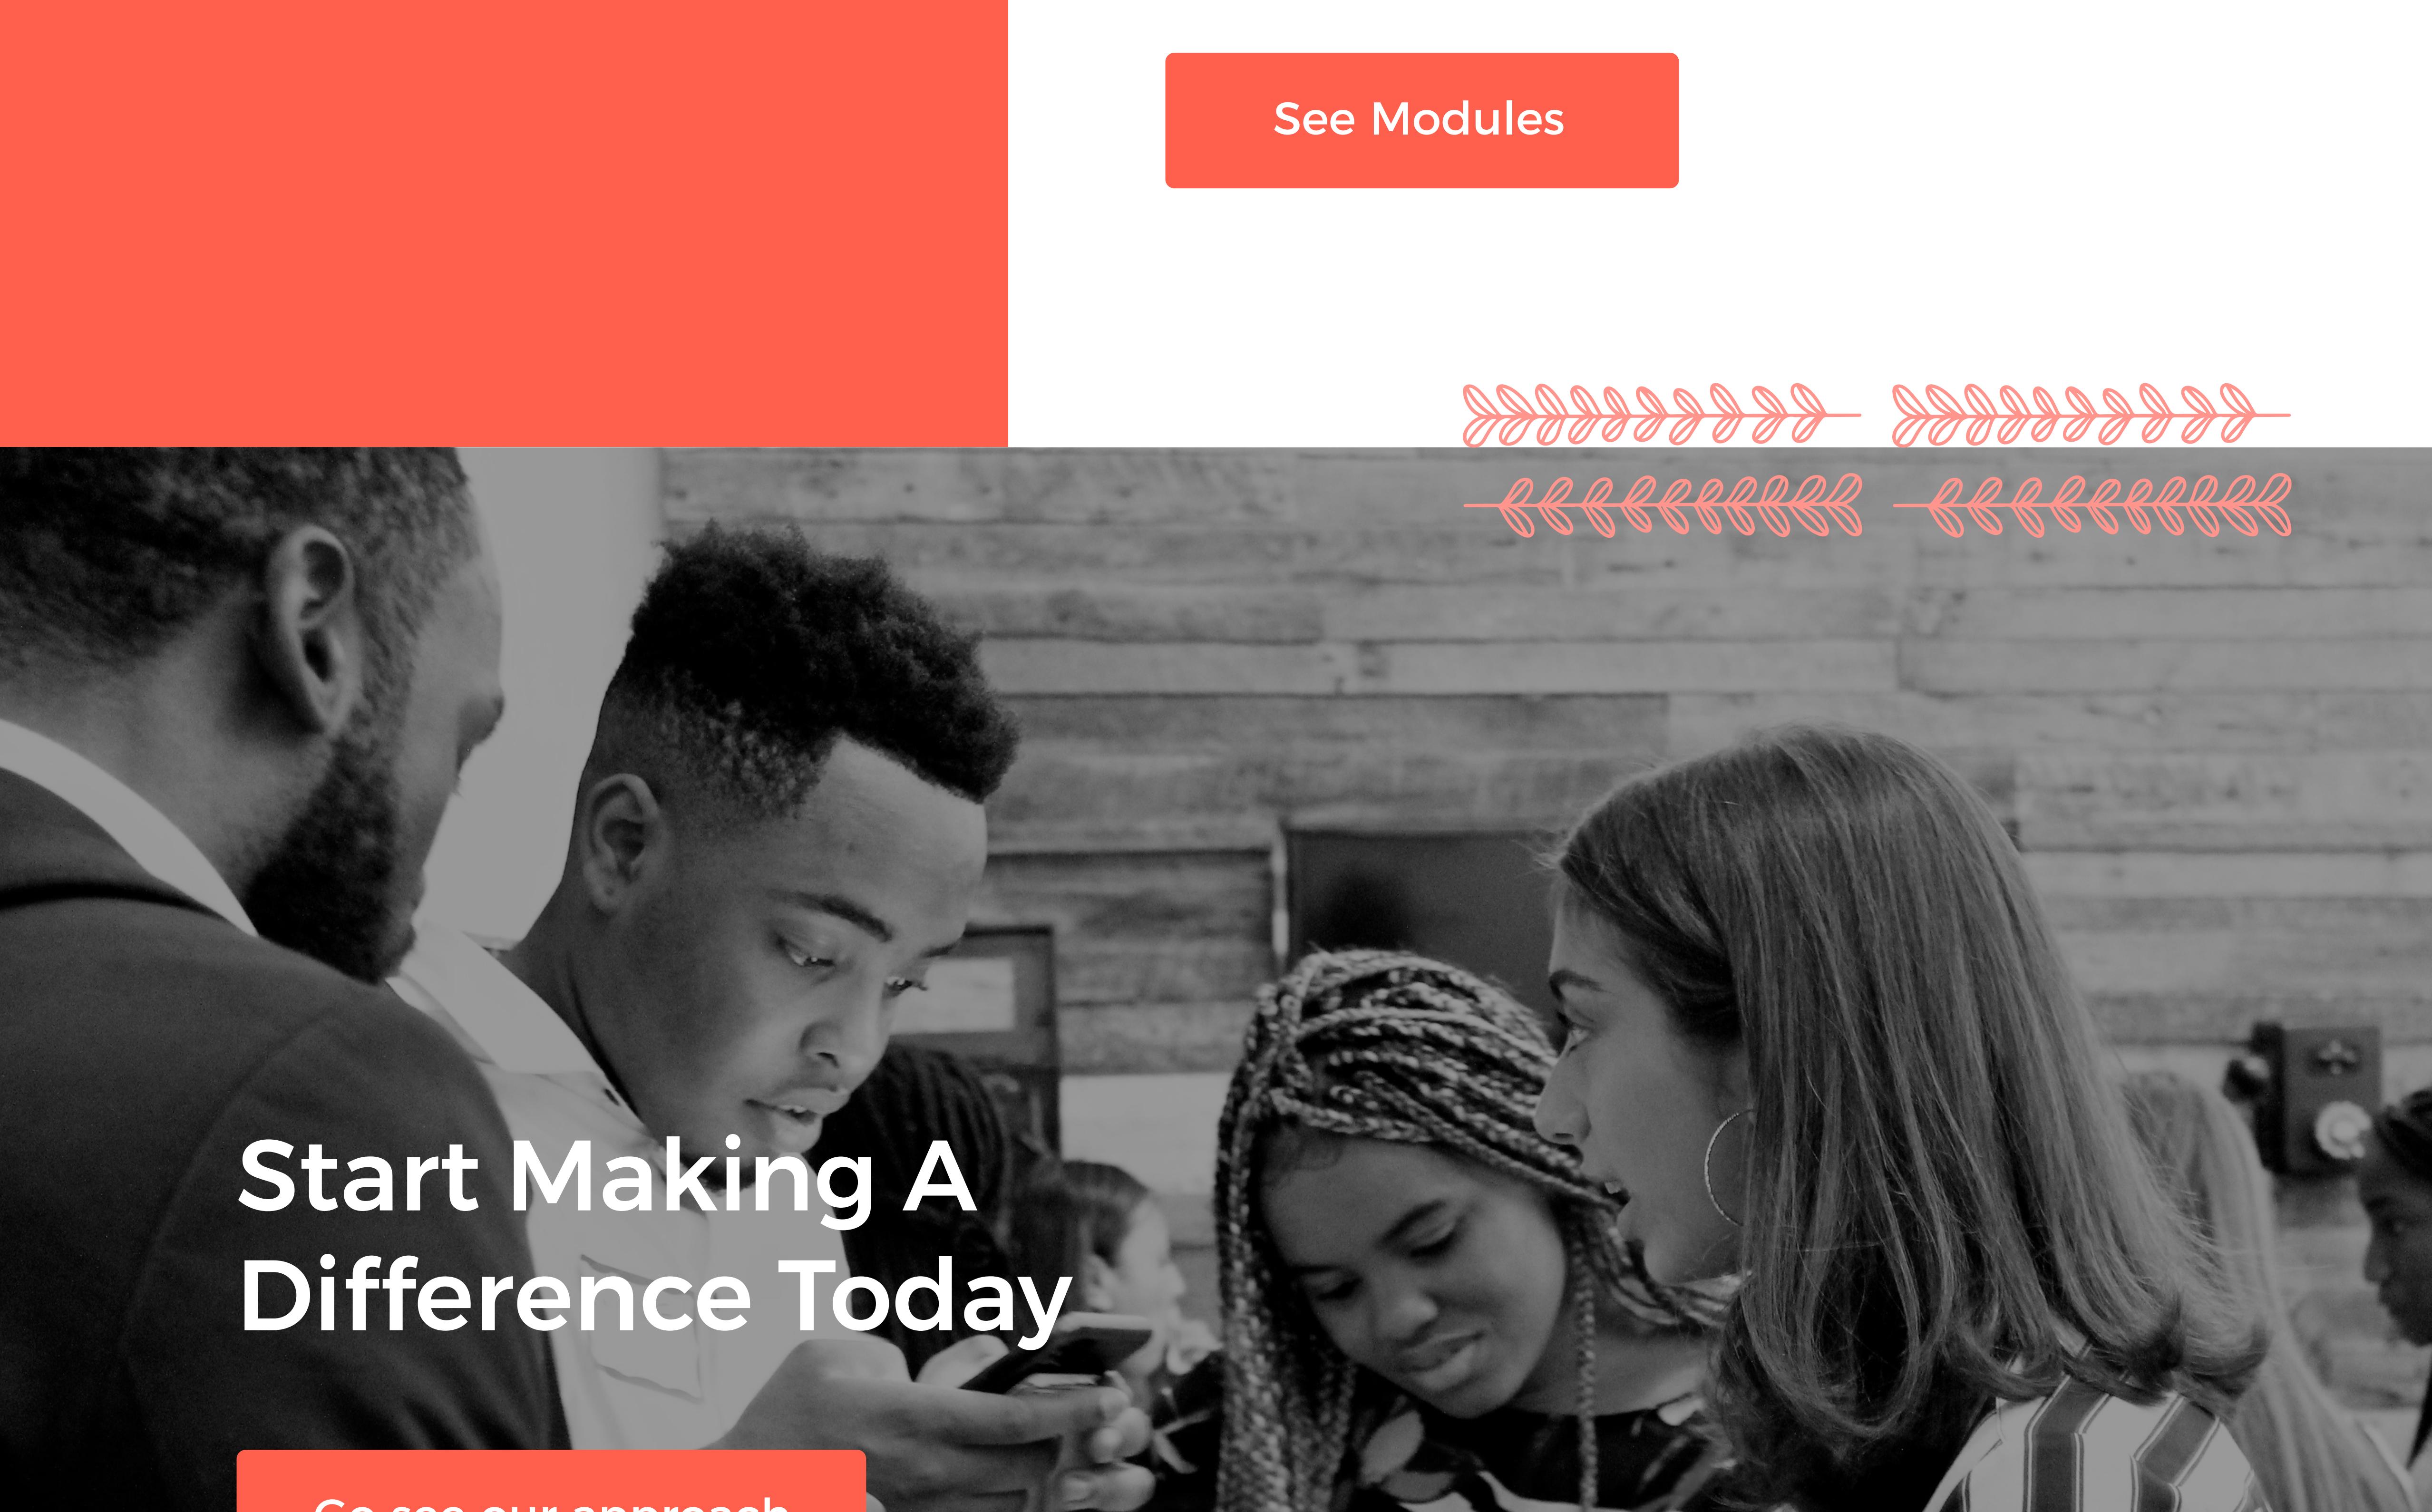

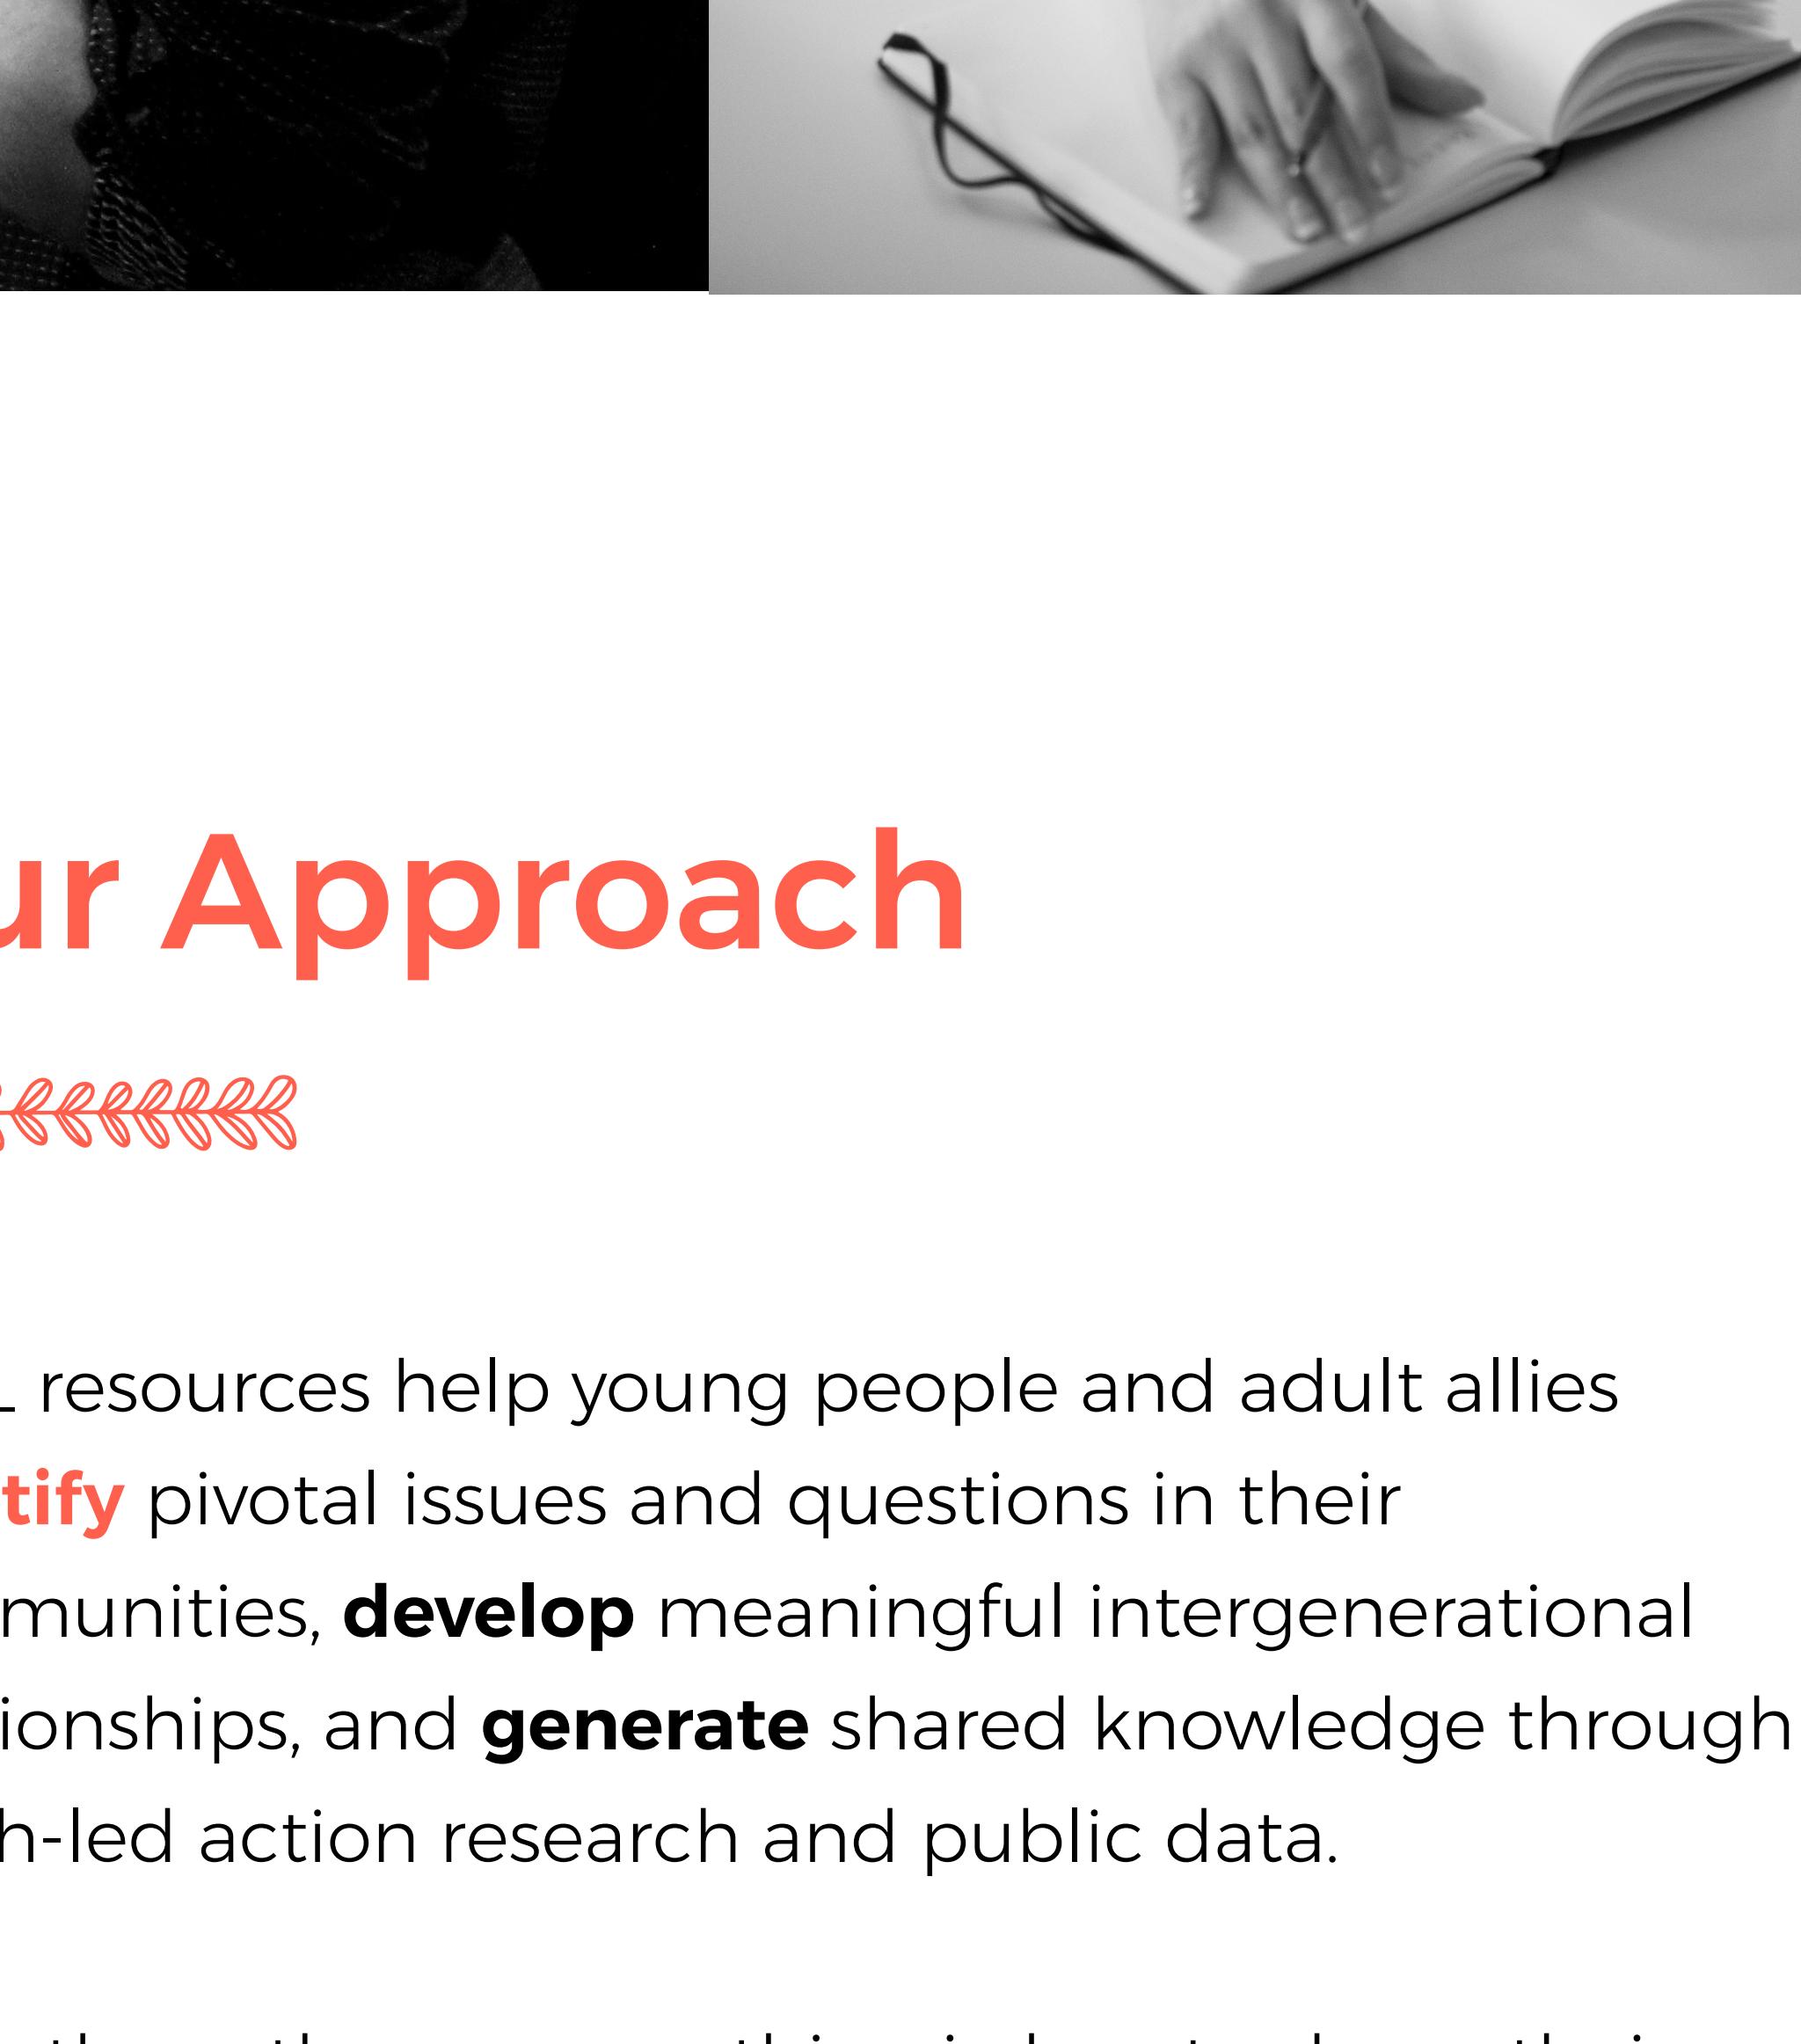

We are committed to helping them do this.

See our approach

Community Futures, Community Lore

The CFCL approach engages youth in the evolution of their own communities.

Using youth-led participatory action research, geospatial mapping and cultural organizing, young people learn to harness community wisdom, public data, and intergenerational power to generate solutions for our collective future.

Our Approach

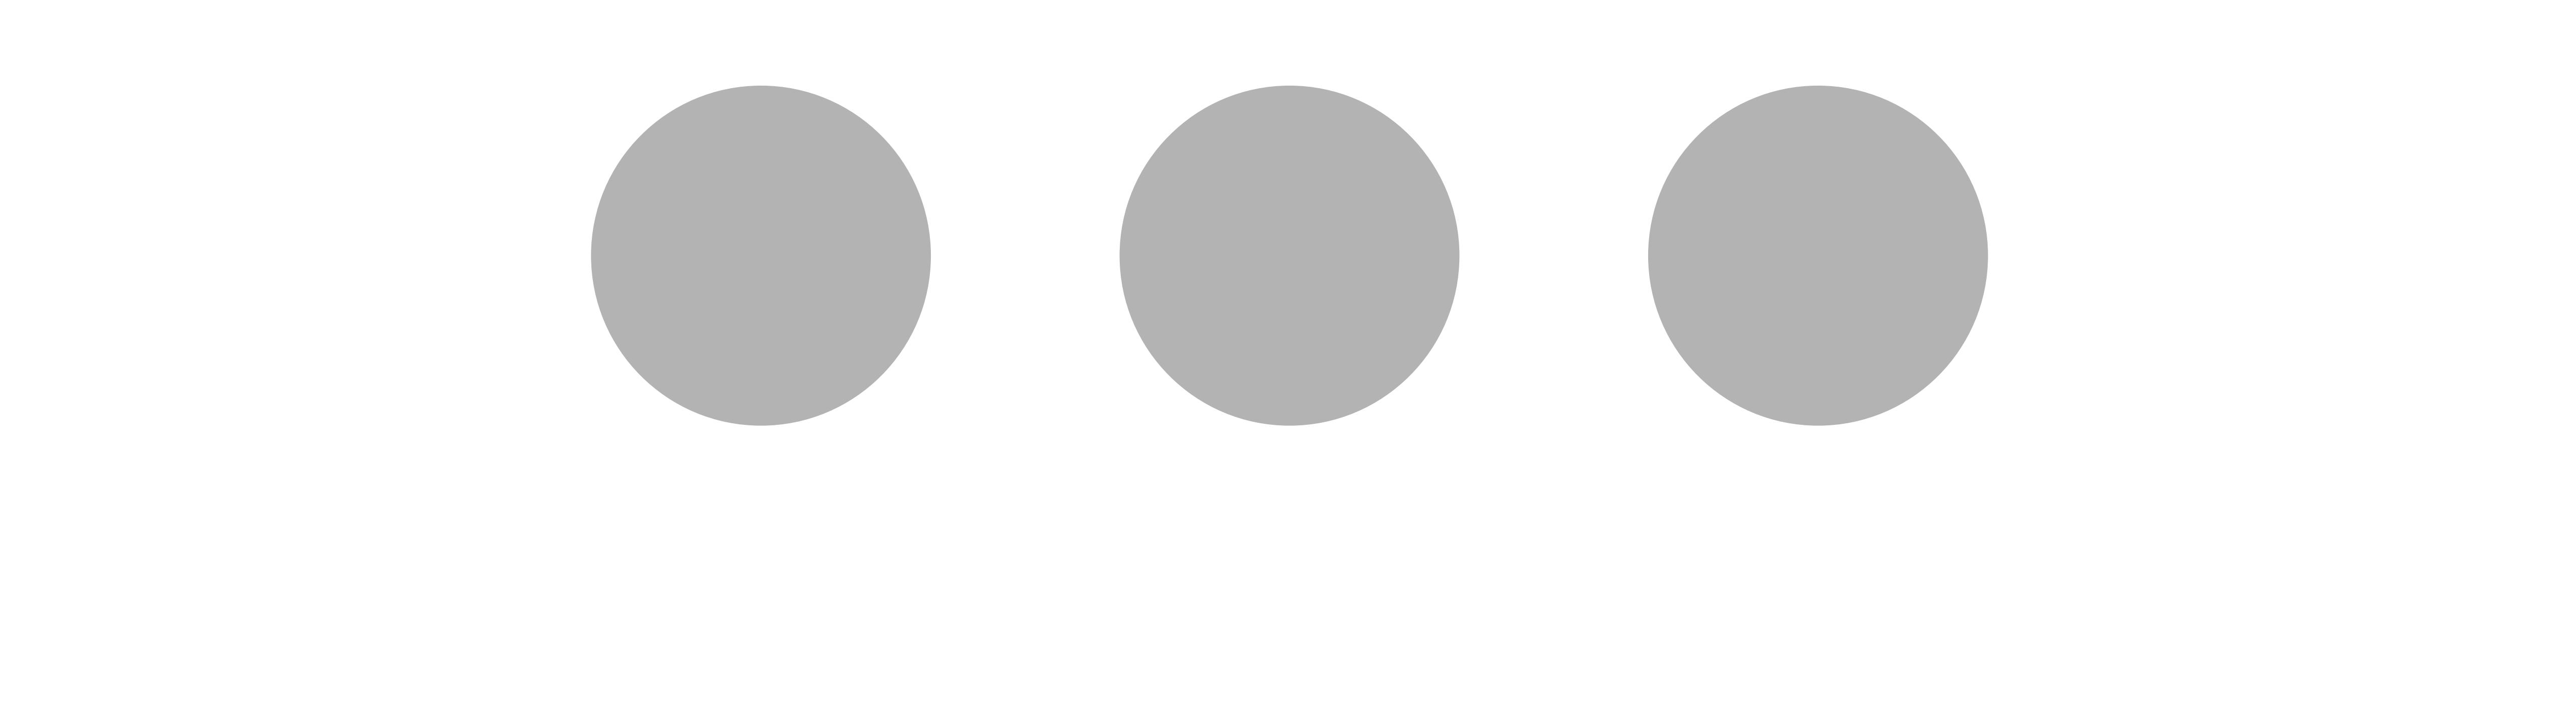

CFCL resources help young people and adult allies identify pivotal issues and questions in their communities, develop meaningful intergenerational relationships, and generate shared knowledge through youth-led action research and public data.

From there, they can use this wisdom to shape their own future and create a more socially just and interconnected world for all generations.

The CFCL methodology includes ten downloadable modules to help you start and run your own project.

See Modules

Start Making A Difference Today

Go see our approach

Our Partners

